Commodore Perry Joint Area School

Hadley, Pennsylvania

Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Six

The Log Book staff of Commodore Perry is proud to announce the dedication of the yearbook to a teacher who has not only contributed much to the student body in the classroom but as a personal guide as well. He has been a responsible coach and helped in the construction of extra-curricular facilities, such as the backstop, play scenery and prom decorations. His cheerful personality has brightened all that he has done.

In appreciation of your fine services, we proudly dedicate the Log Book to you, Mr. Creasy.

Foreword

This past school year has been a time of many changes. The administration underwent changes as Mr. Horton became supervising principal and Mr. Lenkner filled the position of high school principal, while Mrs. Shirley Hughes replaced Mrs. Dorothy Knauff as school secretary.

Changes have occurred around the school also as the band obtained kettle drums and a baseball backstop was constructed by the boys in the agricultural department.

The past year saw the school newspaper in printed form and several students attending a newspaper and yearbook convention at Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

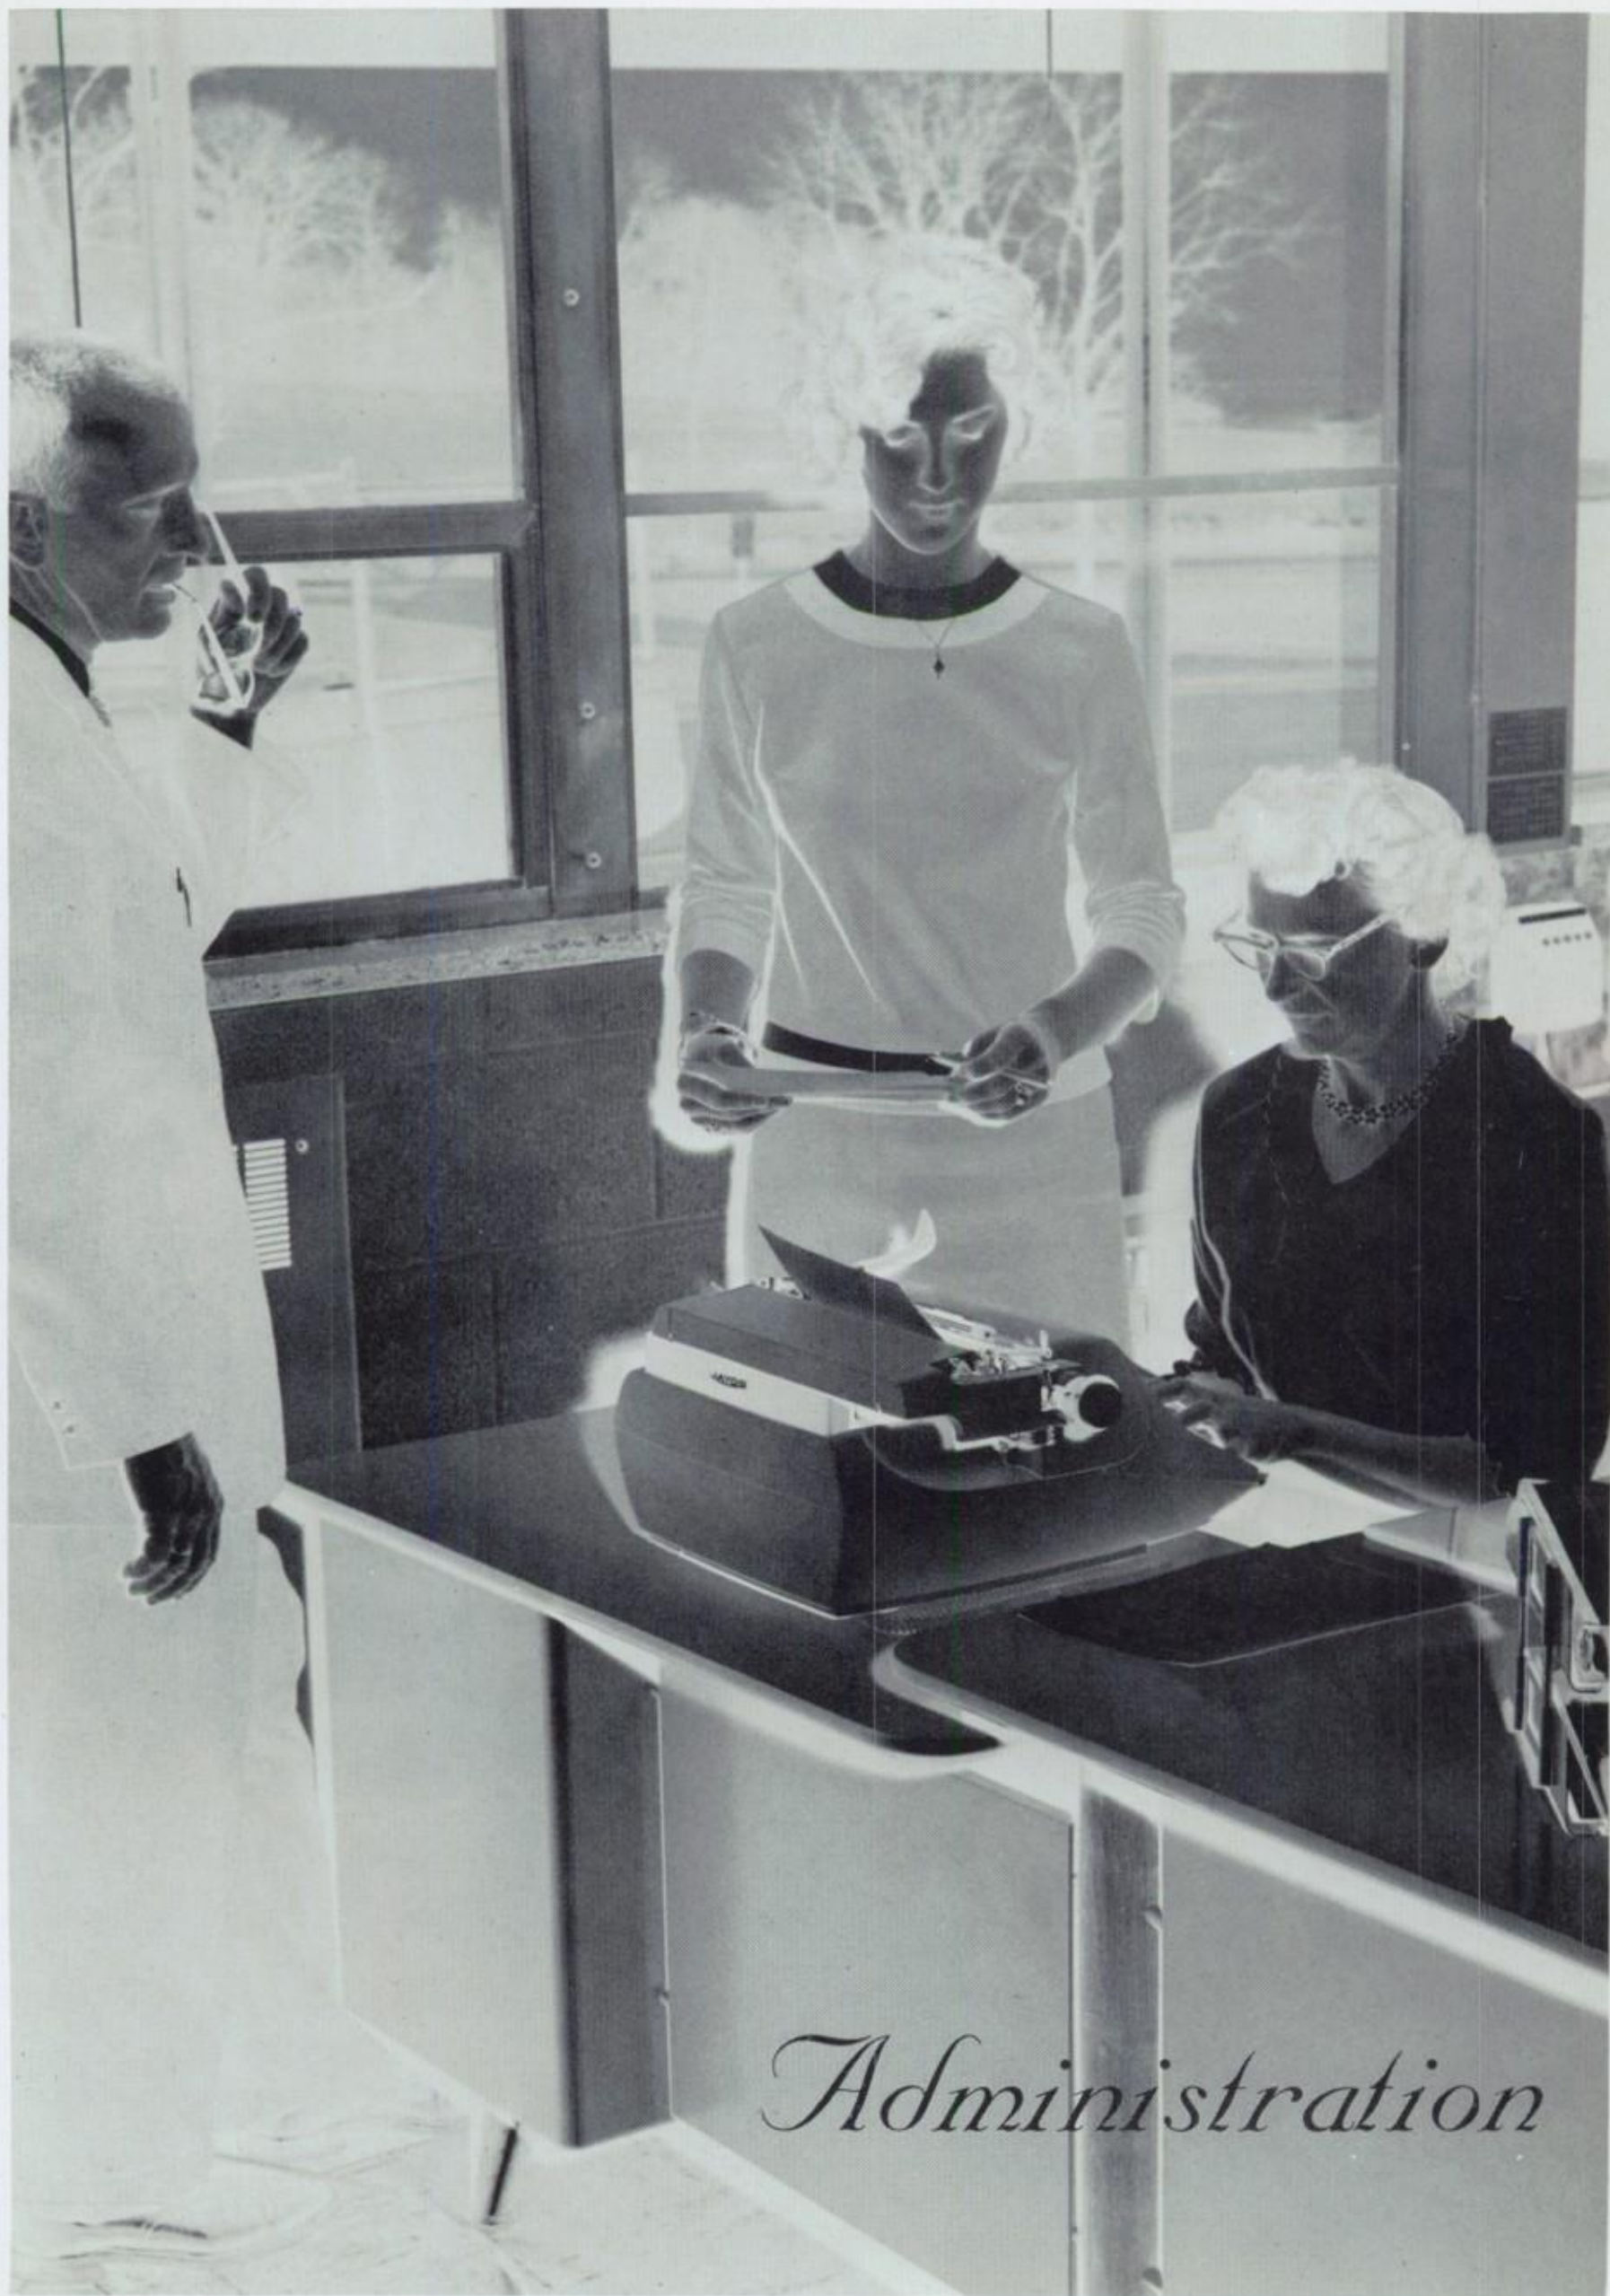

The school also received benefits from the guidance department as we enjoyed for the first time a full-time guidance counselor, Mr. James McConnell.

This book is intended to serve as a history book which relates, through pictures, the advancement of the school year. By the use of increased candid photos, it is hoped you, the reader, will be able to remember such moments through other people.

We, the Log Book staff of Commodore Perry, sincerely hope this will be a book of treasured memories.

Beginning July 1, 1966 our school board will take on a new look. Not only do we as adolescents suffer "growing pains," but our school board does also; so the state has mandated a "diet" which will decrease the size of the board to nine members.

We wish to welcome the following members of the new board: Ralph Ohle, president; Lloyd Clark, vice president; Paul Patterson; Robert Peters; Walter Nagy; Henry Werger; Don Kirby; Carl McQuiston; and Arthur Kuhn. We extend our thanks to all members for their service throughout the years.

The success of graduation is measured by accomplishments after having gained knowledge, skill, and maturity through any type of education. As knowledge and ability continue to grow, earning power increases to reflect growing value. Thus, satisfaction and security await those who are foresighted enough to prepare for successful futures. It is my desire that all students at Commodore Perry learn, not just for immediate success, but for a long, happy, and fruitful life. Good luck and work hard.

Willis E. Horton

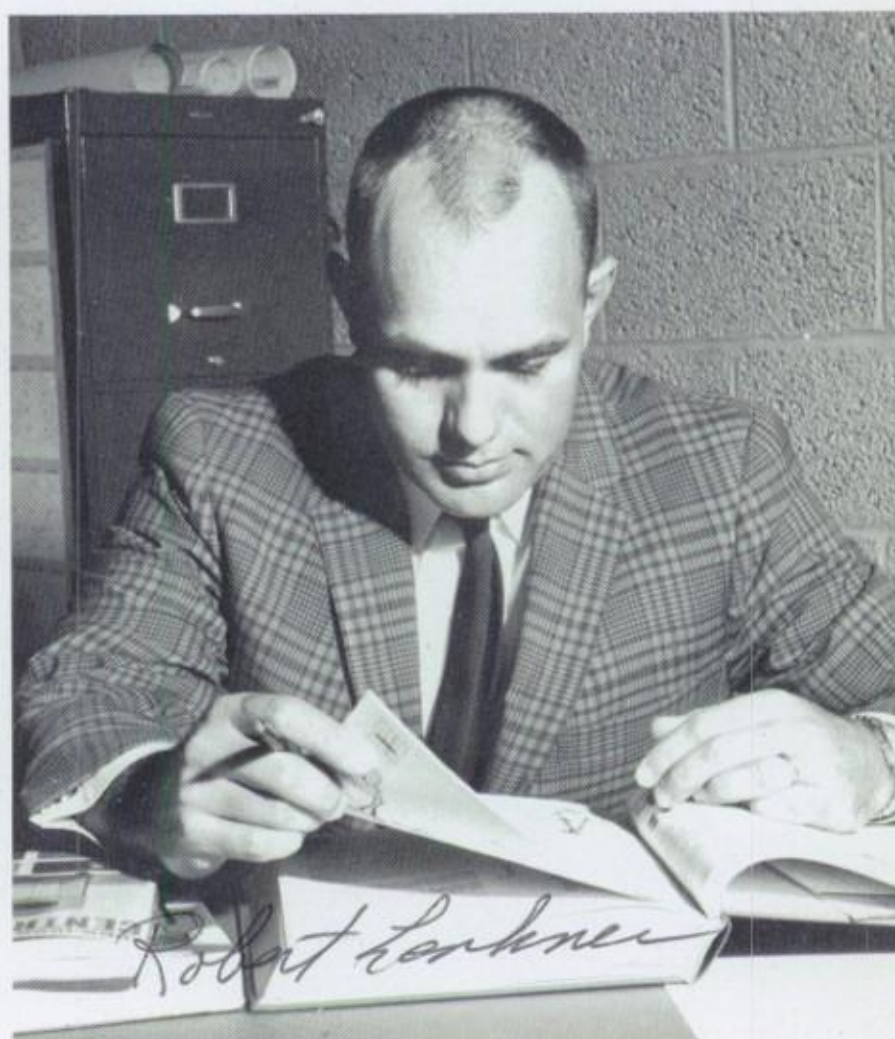

Administration

You have the distinct privilege and good fortune of inheriting membership in the greatest nation in the world. You can enjoy luxuries that past generations dared not even dream about. Available to you is a mobility and freedom to choose your destiny that has never before been enjoyed by man.

You also inherit problems. Legal equality must be made meaningful in economic and educational terms. The rights of the individual must be preserved in all the free world--even in the jungles and swamps of Viet Nam.

We believe that you can solve these problems and build an even greater nation.

A pencil, a ruler, a wastebasket--these are essential items in putting a yearbook together. Struggling with problems of composition, mathematical proportion, and what to say, we finally reach our last deadline after a frantic rush. The wastebasket is full of our mistakes and our subscription and advertising staff has completed its work. The typewriters are quiet and we must wait until spring to see our completed book of memories.

That gay crowd of girls which emerges from the cafeteria on Wednesday evenings is the Tri-Hi-Y Club. Among the projects which these girls have carried out this year were the Christmas party they sponsored for the girls of St. Paul's Children's Home and their Pink Panther Dance held in April.

The regular meetings were brightened up by several different slide presentations. Mrs. Gene McDowell, of the history department, showed her slides of California; slides of Germany and France were shown by Mr. Bohn; and Mrs. Marjorie Wright presented her slides and several articles from Finland.

Our National Honor Society has been made up of junior and senior students, chosen on the basis of their scholarship, leadership, and service. This year's assembly, held in February, was an impressive ceremony centered around a theme concerning the famous characteristics of four great presidents. During this ceremony, one senior, seven juniors, and two sophomores were inducted into the honorary group. Sophomores have been included in membership for the first time this year.

 operation with the agricultural classes built a

 started last spring was the planting of two acres of corn which was sold this fall. Some subjects studied by agricultural students include: welding, electronics, safe hunting, and mechanics, which includes overhauling tractors and other farm equipment.

This year the F.F.A. boys learned hunting safety --among other things. Apparently they have also learned to be excellent mechanics.

For their theme the F.T.A. chose "Learning to Work with People" and scheduled many activities corresponding to this title.

Visiting the Crippled Children's School and the Mitchell Home for Retarded Children were just two of the field trips in which the F.T.A. participated. Along with these trips, two teaching days, and a trip to the Pennsylvania F.T.A. convention in Harrisburg made a very busy year for the group.

That F.T.A. bulletin board is a busy place. Mr. Williams' Volkswagen is also a pretty busy place when we go on field trips--just look at how many people it holds!

We really glow when we get a chance to teach.

After three weeks of hearing the famous words, "Cry me a river," from their director, Mr. Walter Chapin, the seniors were at last ready to present "Let 'Em Eat Steak." On October 22 the gymnasium was filled with the squawking of chickens and the laughter of the audience as the cast and crew presented their enjoyable performance.

In April 1965, the junior class presented its production of "The Runaway Heart". The love-bug was running wild in this play.

The action took place way out in the country at a boarding house with an outdoor privy. Around that neck of the woods everyone knew everyone else's business better than their own.

The characters consisted of people from all walks of life. There were a gossip-minded widow, played by Marlene Scott; two citified teachers, Sandy Clark, and Kathy Kopta; both of these ladies were chasing one eligible bachelor, Merle Morrison; two peanut butter crazy brats, Donna Arbuckle and Paul May; a few love sick teenagers, Larry McDonald, Linda Whitlatch, Doris Laver, and Alvin Osborne; and last but not least; a fair weather principal played by Larry Young.

The director was Mrs. Pitts, student director was Anita Basiorka, and very useful prompter was Lucia Celender.

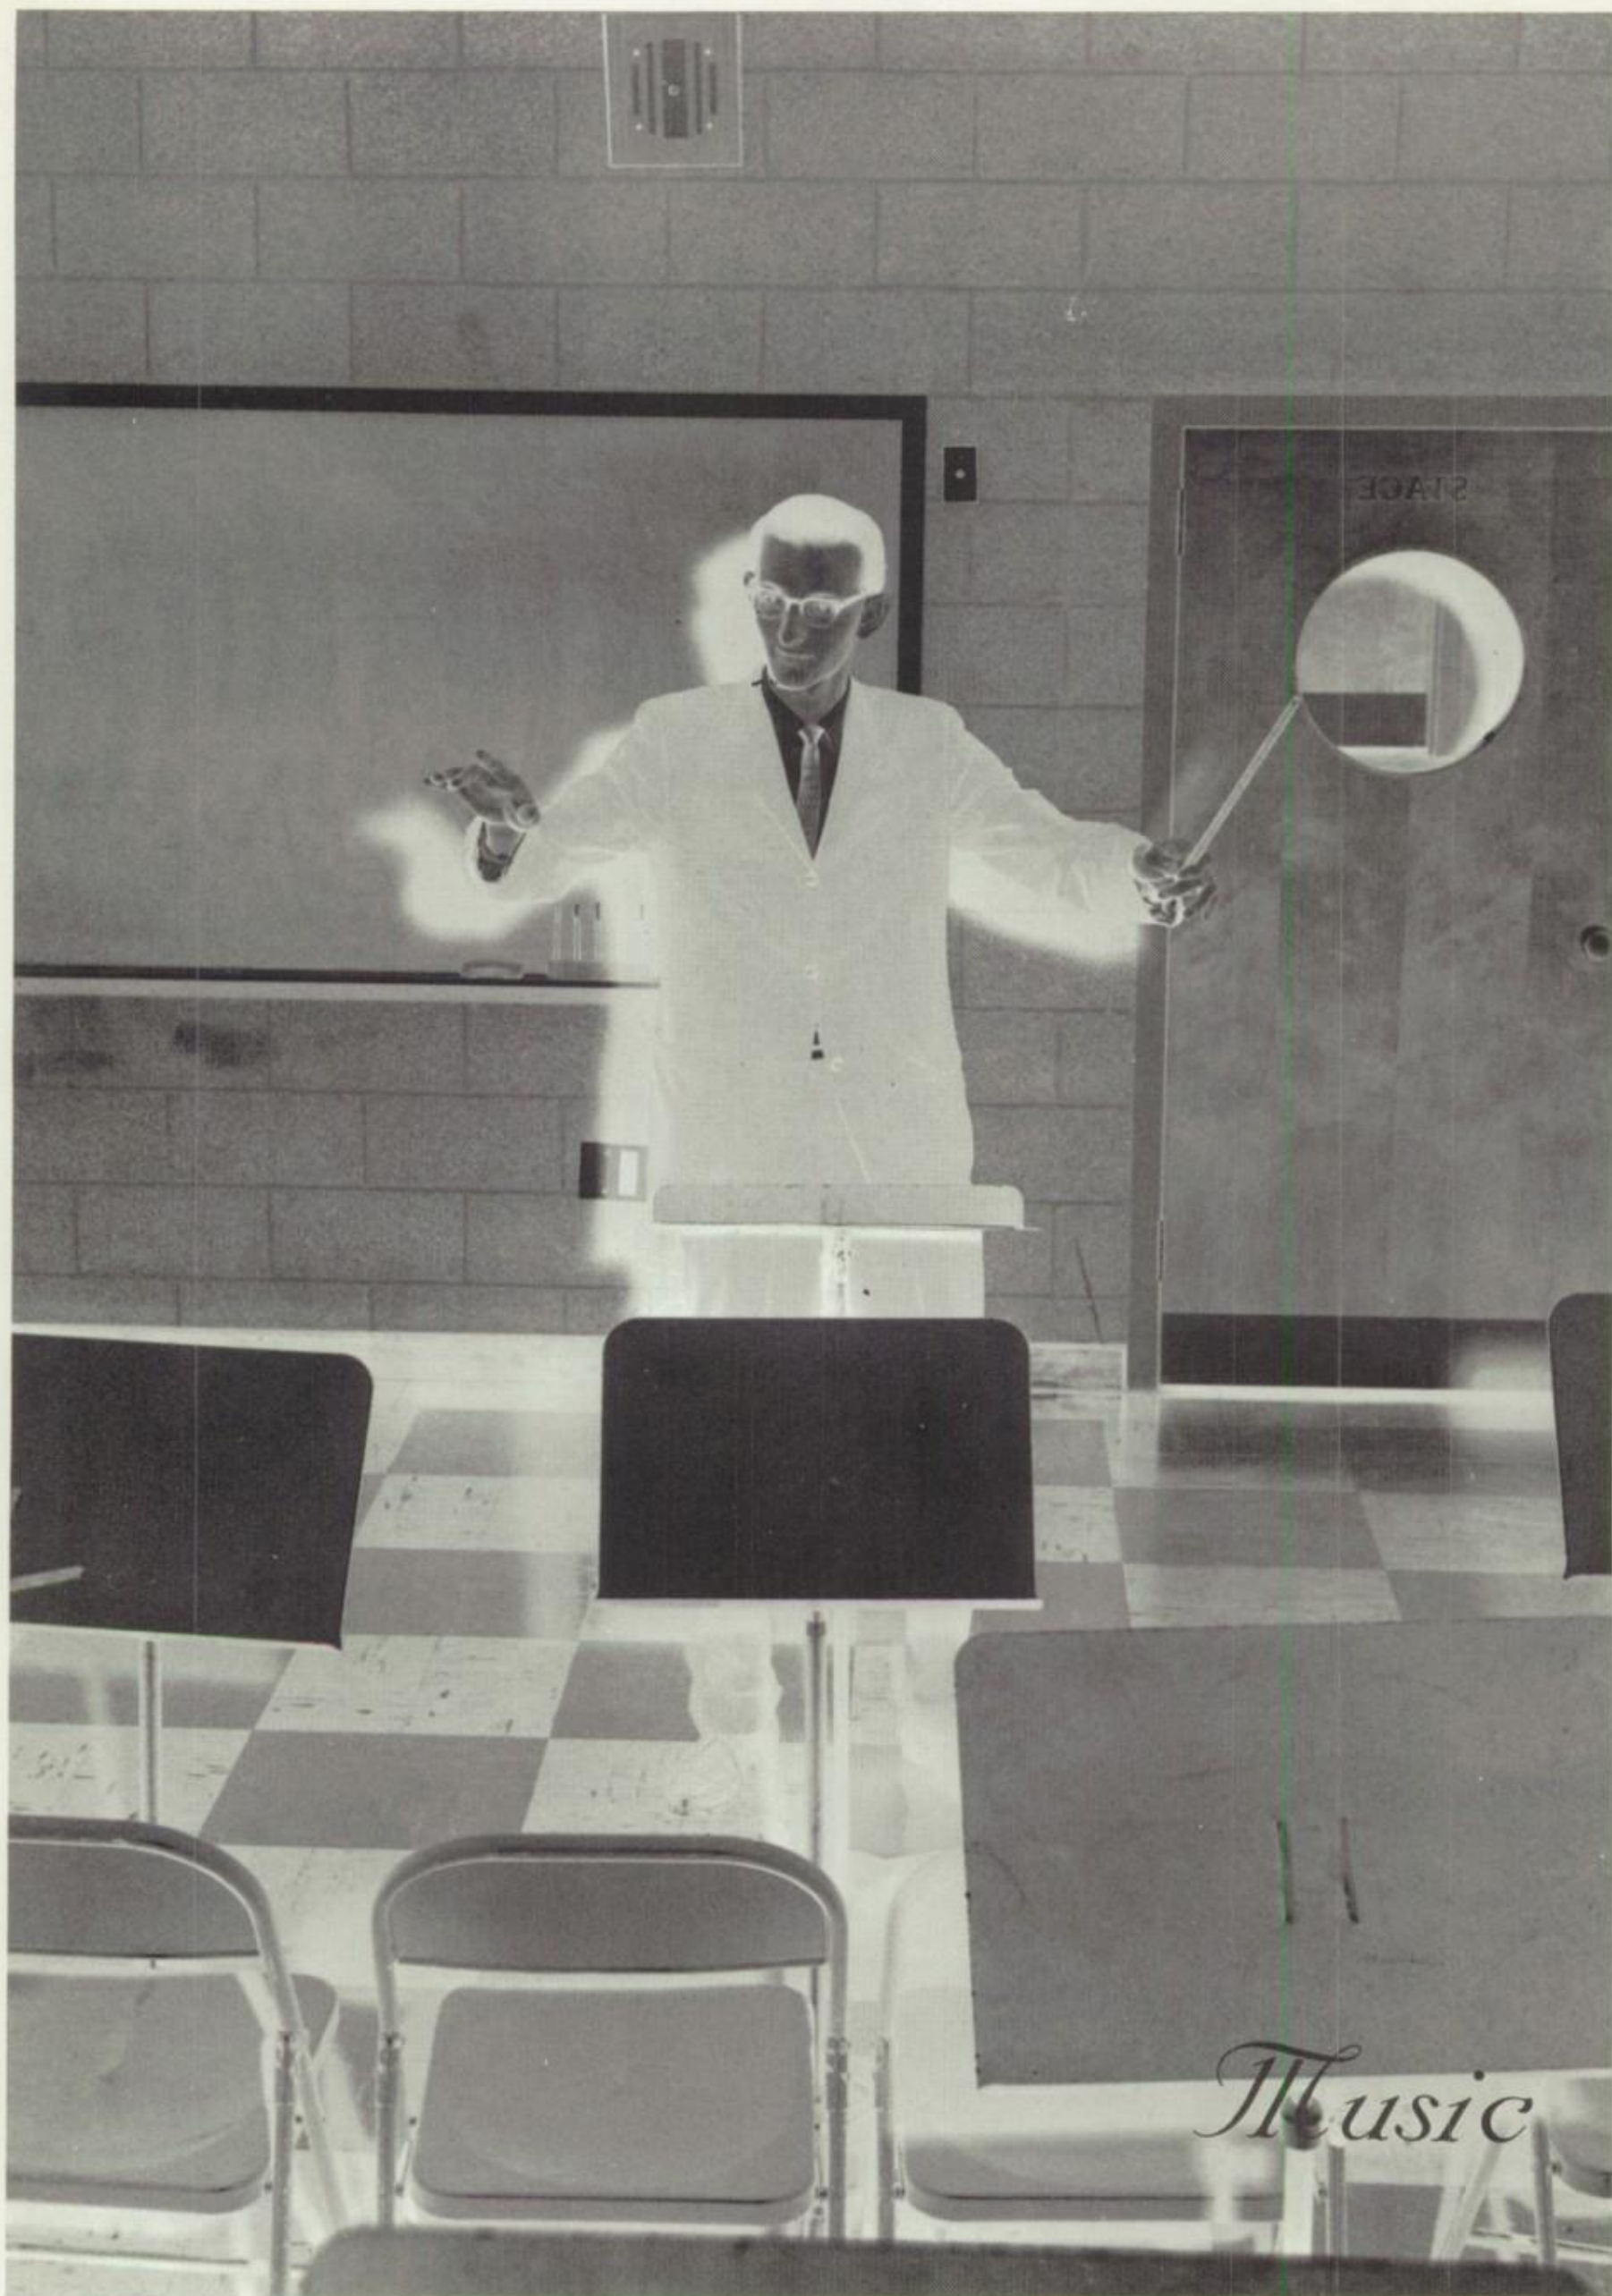

After all the hard work, prom night finally arrived and the gym sparkled with trees and flowers. This "Emerald Garden," which the juniors had made to blossom in the barren gym, contained a stately castle, a water-fall and a large balloon and basket as the center of attraction.

During working hours curlers and comfort were the keynote, but when dance time rolled around everyone was miraculously changed to beautiful princesses, with sweeping formals replacing slacks, and charming princes, minus the sweat shirts of a few hours before. Judged the most charming of the dance were Kathy Rose and Jim Adzima, who reigned as king and queen of the "Emerald Garden."

Band

Over the past year the band has expanded, and the quality, technique and tone have greatly improved. Adding to the improvement and strength of the band are the newly acquired kettle drums which have been a goal of the band for several years.

Each Wednesday and Thursday is set aside for band practice. As a result of this practice, two concerts are presented each year, one at Christmas and the other in the spring. In addition to these concerts, the band also helps to pep up our pep assemblies and plays at home basketball games. They also play in Sheakleyville on Memorial Day.

Our State Champs

ART GRINNELL
Pennsylvania State Wrestling Champ
103 Pound Class

March found us attending two special honor assemblies; the first for Art Grinnell, sophomore who brought home a state championship from the wrestling finals at Penn State; and the second for Joyce Rockhill, junior who was chosen over five other candidates as vice-president of the state F.T.A. organization at their convention in Harrisburg.

Each of these students has used skill, time, and effort to attain statewide recognition. We can all be proud of our school and all of our students, especially those who have proven that a small, rural school can encourage outstanding citizens.
